

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

DIEGO VALADÉS is doctor in Law from the Complutense University of Madrid. Full-time researcher at the UNAM Institute of Legal Research, of which he was also director. He belongs to the National System of Researchers, the Mexican Academy of Language, the National College, the College of Sinaloa, the Seminary of Mexican Culture and the National Academy of Moral and Political Sciences of Argentina. He is vice president of the European Society of Culture.

Author of the following books: The constitutional dictatorship in Latin America; The National Autonomous University of Mexico: formation, structure and functions; The reformed Constitution; Constitution and politics; Education law; Academic Law in Mexico; The control of power (editions in Mexico, Argentina, Venezuela and in the Russian Federation); Constitution and democracy; Constitutional problems of the rule of law (editions in Mexico and Argentina); The cabinet government (editions in Mexico, Argentina and Nicaragua); The language of law and the law of the language (editions in Mexico and the Russian Federation).